

finance & economy | translated

The world of finance is complex, and so are English and German translations of industry-specific documents. Top-notch language skills are only one key to success. With td|translations, you also get a translator with true industry insight. Trust a true expert when it comes to financial translations!

For more information, please visit www.td-translations.com

Business and finance translations English | German

... are my area of expertise - I specialize in texts that revolve entirely around finance, including accounting, controlling, sales, as well as banking and stock markets. You've found the right language services expert for all your finance-related translations, including annual financial statements (local GAAP & IFRS), balance sheets, investment fund brochures/reports, presentations or similar documents.

My approach:

It takes both a highly trained translator and a subject-matter expert to accurately translate your highly specialized texts. As a professional translator, I am constantly refining my skills through continuous education. Let me show you what I can do for you!

Benefit from my industry-specific insight and expertise!

Why should you hire me?

- ↳ Your company can focus on your core competence. You will use your resources most effectively by outsourcing specialized tasks, such as translation, to third-party providers
- ↳ Peace of mind: knowing that your translations will be done right
- ↳ My transparent pricing structure makes your project planning easier – and as a matter of course, all deadlines will be met
- ↳ Convenience of a single point of contact for all your English/German business and finance translations

About Tatjana Dujmic

- ↳ State-examined and court-sworn translator
- ↳ Trained banker
- ↳ Financial accounting specialist (IHK-Chamber of Industry and Commerce)
- ↳ Member of the German translators association (BDÜ) and the American translators association (ATA)

My competitive advantage:

My previous professional background in the challenging banking industry has provided me with unique insight into the world of finance. In addition, I have several years of experience as an executive assistant in small and medium-sized German companies. In conjunction with my translation-related training I use this industry expertise as a highly specialized business and finance translator.